Volunteering.
Before you volunteer take time to think about an area of interest or a skill set that you have that will benefit your community. Consider ways of using service to gain experience in your field of study or take a chance to become involved in an organization or cause you might not have otherwise considered. Volunteers are an intricate part of society and our community partners, you have a chance to make an impact in your community and gain skills leading in a global society.

In order to get credit for completing service hours, students are expected to submit one form per organization they volunteer with.
